A crowd of twelve hundred or more witnessed the game, and enthusiasm was universal and contaglous from the first. Richmond started after Pitcher Leake's curves with a rush, and by free hitting, coupled with Randolph-Macon's errors, sent three runners across the plate in the first inning, while all Randolph-Macon could do with Cardoza's delivery was to scoree once. In the third Richmond College scored her fourth run on a two-bagger to right and a passed ball by Cross. They were keeping up the record in the fourth with two successive singles and a passed ball, which gave them can more run, making the score 5 to 1 in their favor, when something happened to bring about a change. Pitcher Leake was sent to third base, and a southpaw by the name of Trevillian, an Ashlander, replaced him, and then the tide turned. Inamediately a change came over the scene. With robody down and a Richmond man on third, the left-hander retired the next batter on strikes. Lankford, the next batter up, was hit by a pitched ball, but 1sh fanned and Sutherland went out pitcher to first.

With the score five to one against them, the Ashland boys played a plucky up-hill game. In the fifth inning they scratched out a run on a pass to first, a steal of second and a safety to left, making the total score five to two in Richmond's fave.

In the sixth inning the Ashland boys got in the game in earnest, adding three runs to their total and tying the score. In their half of the same inning, however, Richmond College again took the lead, scoring on a scratch hit over seeind, rollowed by Lankford's grass cutter to left and an out to center field.

Neither team could score in the seventh, although Richmond College got two men on bases. One of them walked, but was promptly thrown out at first by Trevillian. Leake's error gave another Richmonder a life, but the next batter fanned, and hopes were dashed.

In the eighth inning Randolph-Macon managed to the the score, Green's double to right, followed by Trevillian's single and another safety to center field, sent the tying run over the plate. With nobody down and two on hases, the next batter fit to Cardoza, who threw a runner out at the plate, another went out at first and the third popped a fly to Handy. Richmond College in its turn went out in one, two, three order, the batters being unable to land on Trevillian's left-wing delivery.

combined. It was heart-breaking to the Richmond rooters, for up to this time the game seemed surely theirs. The first batter up sent a line fly to left, which Mench squeezed after a pretty run.

The next batter sent a grass-cutter skipping into left field and immediately stole second. Another single scored a run. The next batter reached first on a fielder's choice, and the bases were fill-ed. It was Randolph-Macon's game, 13 to 6, after an exciting struggle and one abounding in fast playing. It was a game full of brilliant plays, there being five lightning double plays, one by Green, unassisted, All the fielders covered their territory in fast style, but Mench in left-field robbed several Randolph-Macon men of doubles and singles by his brilliant work. For Randolph-Macon, Green accepted nine chances at second without error. Cross caught a brilliant game, the only thing to detract from his work being two passed balls that proved costly. Walters (C. The New Management.

The New Management.

At this time no extensive details can be given concerning the proposed reorganization, the practical effect of which is to rid the University College of the private stock feature and make it a public institution. An authorized announcement by the faculty has been made, but the specific, detailed statement will be given at the commencement exercises this week. Under the reorganization plans are being considered for large improvements and changes by the time of the next session. Announcement concerning these changes will also be made later.

Application for a charter will be made cerning these changes will also be made later.

Application for a charter will be made probably this week. The board of trustees will meet in June to take up its work. The scope of the University College will be much enlarged, and it is believed that the steps proposed is a great advance along the lines of professional teaching, and that it will be of great advantage to the institution and to the city in elevating the standard of education and attracting a large number of students. Heretofore the University has been conducted with a dean of the faculty. It will now have a dean for each of the departments of medicine, dentistry and pharmacy, together with a president of the combined faculties. These officers will be chosen at the June meeting.

the past week than there had been for some time before. The rumor that Tammany and Gorman were working together for the Yurpose of securing the nomination will not down Parker, and the recent visit of Senator Gorman to New York, where he is at present, lends color to the rumor. Mr. E. E. Meredith, a well known lawyer of Manassus, said here to-day that he believed Gorman would be the nominee. The Southern States, he thinks, will not generally instruct their delegates, and that at heart the people of the South are for the man who gave them such good help in defeating the force bill in 1892.

"I believe Gorman can start out with the Solid South behind him." he said. "West Virginia is for him. Maryland is for him. Pennsylvania, with her 68 uninstructed delegates, is for him. I will be seen when the convention assembles
